Dear David,

We have now lived in our custom built home for over 3 years, long enough for any “settling” to have taken place. Of course there are many horror stories about builders circulating; however my wife and I are ecstatic about our home and have nothing but praise to share about David and his team. Although David was our builder, he more acted like a friend from start to finish. We chose our plans and massaged every measurement given and David took it in stride and delivered a home-run product. David took personal interest in our home by advising us what types of trim to use, how the tray ceilings were designed and even assigned his Project Manager, Steve Little, to complete all of the inside trim. We didn’t like any of the pre-fab fireplace mantles available so Steve built our mantle that we found in a picture and completed it to scale. David is very accessible for questions and his office manager, Kim, is very polite and professional. Kim always made us aware of any scheduled building appointments and kept us on time in choosing our décor so not to delay the overall schedule. Honestly, when the day comes again for us to build a home, I will choose David and his team to build it.

Thanks David for building a home...not a house!
